On the 18th September 2010 the Wallingford Local Producers Market will be celebrating its third birthday. The market will be opened by Angie Best, our local health and fitness expert. The market will have a wide range of produce on offer and a number of activities will be running throughout the market. A booklet will be published on the day with details about the market, what is in season and recipes. Ed Vaizey, the Culture Minister, has written the forward to the booklet. Also on the day the new website for the market will be going live.

The market has grown and developed over the last three years. It has enabled a number of businesses to ensure a successful start-up. Each month the market receives requests from prospective stall holders and the current list of stallholders is over 30.

Mark Powell, chairman of the Wallingford Local Producers Market and owner of Ashtrees Farm Organic Vegetables in Benson, said "We are delighted that Angie Best is opening the market. With her focus on health, fitness and diet, Angie understands the benefit of locally produced food to support a healthy lifestyle."

Paul Bellchambers, owner chef of TheLateChef, said, "The market has been an ideal way for me to grow and develop the business over the last 8 months. This celebration is great for the market and I hope that the celebration encourages more people to visit the market."

The new website for the market is www.wallingfordlocalproducersmarket.com.
